

Green Halloween® Team

Founder & director: Corey Colwell-Lipson

Corey Colwell-Lipson lives with her husband, Ryan, and their two children in Issaquah, Washington.

Corey is a licensed marital and family therapist and board certified clinical art therapist with a strong interest in mind-body issues and the transition to parenthood.

She is passionate about protecting and preserving the environment and as a child, hers was the first family she knew with solar panels on their roof. She is influenced by her parents' appreciation for physical and psychological health. Her father, age 76, is a personal fitness trainer (and author) and her mother, a former life coach.

Corey's children are the inspiration for her starting Green Halloween. Corey and her mom, Lynn Colwell, co-founded The Green Year®, LLC and also co-wrote the book, Celebrate Green! Creating Eco-savvy Holidays, Celebrations and Traditions for the Whole Family, which debuted October, 2008.

PR & media maven extraordinaire: Lynn Colwell

Lynn Colwell is Corey's mom, business partner and strongest supporter. Prior to joining Corey in the Green Halloween effort, she was a life coach with clients across the U.S. and in Canada. She was a freelance writer for more than 20 years and wrote the only authorized biography of Erma Bombeck, as well as hundreds of articles for publications including Reader's Digest, Family Circle and Mothering.

Lynn worked in PR and corporate communications for several companies in the health and manufacturing sectors.

She has been married to the same man (see above) for more than 40 years and her proudest accomplishments are her marriage and the safe ushering of her three children into adulthood where they are all flourishing. She's an avid crafter, with a preference for making things out of items most people toss. She's also known as a bit of a penny pincher. She likes to say that her friends used to call her "cheap." Now they call her "green."
